influence brain monoamine
levels in learned helpless rats.
Clonidine, an alpha-2 adrenergic agonist, is an effective anxiolytic in treatment-resistant anxiety disorders and depression. The antidepressant action of clonidine is thought to be due to its effect on the noradrenergic system. Recently, it has been observed that clonidine activates brain 5-HT(2C) receptors involved in serotonin (5-HT) release. We investigated the effect of clonidine on the neuroendocrine system, which contributes to behavioral despair. Thus, valeriana officinalis (VO) extract (10 and 50 mg/kg) and clonidine (0.1 mg/kg) were administered intraperitoneally in the learned helpless (LH) rat. We used cortical and spinal cord dialysates to measure monoamines (serotonin, 5-hydroxyindoleacetic acid [5-HIAA], and norepinephrine [NE]) and clonidine levels. Clonidine and valeriana extract increased cortical NE levels with no effect on the other monoamines. Similarly, in the spinal cord, valeriana extract increased NE levels. Clonidine levels were decreased in the cortical dialysates and increased in the spinal cord dialysates. The results suggest that valeriana extract interacts with the central monoamine system in LH rats, probably at the level of NE and 5-HT neurons.

Q: Cancel button in modal dialog breaks the application? Is there any way to stop this from happening? It's giving me an error of "Uncaught exception: NoActiveXError: cannot call methods on dialog prior to creation of instance"
