from Daz Studio .Q: How to validate string in JSP? I have a simple string like this: My question is: Is there a way to validate if the `User.getUserName()` and `User.getEmail()` are null? A: You can use the EL tag `<code>` Example: Or (this is also the default way to do this) And (if you care about data-hijacking and XSS) and for usability, you can (and should) use output encoding for null values: Of course, you can (and probably should) validate them against the existing `user.getUserName()` and `user.getEmail()` values to ensure that they're not empty. Q: How to find if a JAR file was last modified externally? I've got a situation where I need to find out how and by whom a certain JAR file was last modified. I can't actually change the JAR file at all - I only have access to the files inside of it. The files inside that JAR have the same name as the JAR, so I can't search for them with standard tools (I found JMESPath but that doesn't help too much). Is it possible to check if JAR file was last modified, even in some kind of a fingerprint way? Does Windows store this kind of information somewhere? Background: I'm looking for the last modification time of a JAR file from git repository.
