The artists perform a short medley followed by one of their top hits. Artists voted by the group audiences as their favorites compete for the win against a panel of four judges. order to verify the validity of the [Guenther Report]"; the court held that the order was not supported by the evidence.) [12] Despite the court's most recent decision in Spring, this is a question that we need not decide because the trial court's July 15, 2009 order amended the August 19, 2005 order; however, on appeal, Spring reversed the trial court's October 21, 2008 order. [13] The Texas Supreme Court in Johnson v. Brewer & Pritchard, P.C., 73 S.W.3d 193, 198 (Tex. 2002), discussed the personal jurisdiction issue when it stated: "An order granting an interlocutory appeal is 'ancillary' to the principal suit and thus does not automatically stay the effect of the underlying trial court order or judgment." However, Johnson is not helpful to the facts of this appeal because the appellant was requesting a stay of the trial court's judgment and not an interlocutory appeal; in addition, Johnson was arguing the merits of his appeal. [14] The trial court's order provided, in pertinent part: "That [Shepperd] states for the record that she is not opposing the appointment of the Special Master and that she has no objection to the court appointing the Special Master." [15] The trial court specifically overruled the following objections from the "appellees" –– the Floyd's insurers –– in its order: "
