The members of the Skidrow empire have set out on a journey of destruction! They're constructing a team of renegades, but in order to send out their agents, they need to get their hands on a security passcode. These handouts will grant you access to the Covenant's planet. Your job is to scavenge the remains of Covenant bases to unlock the passcode. (Source) Your mission is to blow up the enemy with lightning speed. The more destruction that you cause, the more points that you score. Try and rack up as many points as possible by blowing up all enemy units in the sky, bombarding the ground, and finding their supply lines. The game plays out with a simple control scheme. You can use arrow keys for your movement and your x-ray gun to blow up most of the units. You can play the game in a number of different modes. Modes include the story mode and a practice mode. The story mode is designed to retell the same story over and over. The practice mode allows you to try and score as many points as you can. You can also play against the computer. It has a difficulty that goes from very easy to very difficult. You can adjust the difficulty as you play. Q: Javascript: Possible to skip empty element? I'm trying to create a matrix of divs in Javascript. The Javascript starts with 1x1, then it builds the matrix, and then fills in the rest of the matrix. At the end of the loop, it is supposed to output the entire matrix. This is being accomplished by just choosing Which is simply a 'Pseudo node' at the end of the loop. But, there's just a bunch of empty nodes at the end, and I'd like to skip those. Is this possible? Thanks Code: for(var i=0;i
