The Monkey Bomb is a party weapon in Call of Duty: World at War. It explodes when thrown, attracting up to 100 enemies, and can be used in conjunction with the Hurricane to finish off one zombie in one go. It's easily recognizable, as it glows red when charging, while in use, and appears as an adult version of Ray-Gun Mark IV. It will be dangerous to other players, and it's an instant alert to players in the area. The Monkey Bomb has a 50% chance of making all infected in its vicinity die. It's the same as the other tactical grenades and this can be seen by the killcams and each player. In Nuketown, the Monkey Bomb has a 30% chance of blowing up zombies as well. This is a very good strategic weapon, but it is a slow kind of weapon.
